Subject: Permit Tracking Software Date: November 4, 2022

I. BACKGROUND:

The Town of Chesapeake Beach currently utilizes Comcate for all Code Enforcement tracking and reporting. The Town Council budgeted in the FY23 general fund budgeting process to add software to track the permitting process. Currently, the Town's permit process is not centralized and requires multiple spreadsheets, emails, and files to organize the permitting process.

A centralized permit software will provide access to multiple staff members and our Planning and Zoning Administrator to review permits and all associated files. Approval, notes, additional information, and the status will be viewable for staff.

The proposal also includes a public portal for citizens. With this addition, citizens can submit code enforcement complaints directly online. Comcate is working on the addition of a public portal that will allow citizens to submit information and track their permits online. Once rolled out this will be added to the public portal for citizens to access from the Town's webpage.

Subject: Wildlife Ordinance Date: November 4, 2022

I. BACKGROUND:

The Town staff has recently become aware of the health risks of feeding wildlife for citizens and the wildlife. The Town recently made efforts to remove vegetation on public land that attracts deer to decrease in tick borne illnesses.

The following information is provided by the Maryland Department of Natural Resources related to the harm that feeding wildlife can impose:

Feeding Wildlife May Quickly Cause Problems

Feeding a single wild animal can quickly lead to having many at your doorstep. Wild animals constantly search for food, and many will find the easy food source you provide. Continually feeding many wild animals in the same place can harm the habitat, people, and the animals themselves.

Feeding Wildlife May Cause the Spread of Disease

Most wildlife diseases are transferred from animal to animal. Because of their close contact, animals crowding at feeding sites can readily exchange diseases. More animals die from disease and disease-related ailments than from starvation.

It's also important to remember that wildlife can carry many diseases that readily spread to people, pets, and livestock. These diseases include rabies, Lyme disease, salmonellosis, Rocky Mountain spotted fever, tularemia, distempers, and encephalitis. In addition, most wildlife species carry parasites that are also easily transferred. For example, raccoon roundworms can be fatal to humans, and scabies mites cause mange in pets.

Therefore, artificial foods can concentrate wildlife which can increase disease spread among people, pets, and wildlife.

Wild Animals Can be Dangerous!

Animals that are fed by humans often lose their natural fear of people. Nearly any wild animal, no matter how timid, is capable of inflicting injury on humans, pets, and livestock.

Feeding Leads to Crowding and Crowding Causes Stress

In crowded situations, physical aggression among individual animals is common. At feeding sites, larger more aggressive individuals often exclude younger and weaker individuals. Aggressive behavior can lead to injuries and even death, particularly for vulnerable individuals.

Supplemental Food Sources Do Not Contribute to a Wildlife Population's Well-being

Wild animals need varied, natural foods as a part of their normal diet. Their digestive systems are adapted to extract energy from a variety of foods available throughout the seasons.

Though wildlife may accept handouts from people, they will likely not get the balanced diet they need for good health. For example, deer have sensitive digestive systems that cannot readily adapt to supplemental food sources. In fact, winterstarved deer have died with full stomachs because their digestive system could not process the supplemental food. In the case of waterfowl like ducks and geese, high-calorie supplemental diets can negatively impact wing development, causing a deformation known as 'angel wing.'

II. NEXT STEPS:

Town Council to consider an ordinance restricting the feeding of wildlife over (2) two pounds to prevent health issues for citizens and wildlife.

ORDINANCE O-22-15

AN ORDINANCE OF THE TOWN COUNCIL OF CHESAPEAKE BEACH, MARYLAND, PROHIBITING THE FEEDING OF CERTAIN WILDLIFE

Subject: Snowplow Agreement Date: November 4, 2022

I. BACKGROUND:

The Town of Chesapeake Beach utilizes contract service for snowplowing on a time and material basis. The contracted service offsets public works staff when mobilized to plow and treat roadways and sidewalks during inclement weather events. The Town continues to cover the private roads of homeowner's associations through an annual indemnification agreement with the HOAs. This additional coverage area provides that the Town staff cannot cover all areas that require snow removal promptly.

It is beneficial to the Town to extend the term of the time and material award from a year-to-year basis to a multi-year time and material contract to lock in the CDL drivers and allow the contractor to purchase the necessary equipment to service the Town.
